LNP ANNUAL REPORT

FOREWORD

It has been a busy year for the Dorset LNP. Our advice has been sought on a wide range of issues. It is our aim to provide environmental guidance and leadership wherever possible.

Whilst we have covered many areas of work and have several active working groups, perhaps our main focus has been on health & wellbeing and on natural capital. For the former we are seeking to engage the healthcare sector to show how access to and activities in the natural environment can both produce measurable clinical benefits and form a major element of a prevention at scale strategy. With the developing concept of natural capital we are seeking to engage economic and business interests to show how investing and protecting our natural assets results in more sustained, successful and less risky economic development.

There is a growing realisation across sectors that Dorset's competitive business niche is the quality of its natural environment which sustains a wide range of industries from tourism, food & drink and education, to agriculture, fisheries and property development. The flow of businesses and high-quality workforce into the county presents both challenges to protect the very environment that makes Dorset so special, but also opportunities to focus investments and support for our shared environment.

CAPITAL

Strategic objective i:

Investing in Dorset's natural assets

Pollinators Bid

Defra launched a funding round in January for LNPs to apply for funding to support local pollinator projects – to support the delivery of the national pollinator strategy. Dorset LNP led the submission of a bid for a partnership project between Butterfly Conservation, Bournemouth University, Dorset Wildlife Trust and National Trust. The bid was successful and the LNP was granted £4,000. The project is one of only six projects funded across England and scored the second highest in the application assessment. The project will be delivered during 2017-18.

SW LNP Delivering the Health and Wellbeing Benefits of the Natural Environment

Dorset LNP worked with colleagues across the South West to raise the profile of nature-based health and wellbeing. A joint conference was held with the South Region Sustainability and Health Network (run by Public Health England and NHS England) in Bristol, in November. The event was aimed at health professionals and over 120 attended the conference. Two projects from Dorset were highlighted as part of the ten workshop sessions, raising the profile of local action.

The SW LNPs are continuing to work together for phase two of the project during 2017-18.
